

The moral limits of markets

Is there anything on the following list that you think should not be for sale? Why or why not?

- First-class plane tickets (i.e., should all seats be the same?)
- Hospital room upgrades
- Private healthcare
- Private education
- Places on university courses
- Sex
- Use of one's womb (for example, in surrogacy contracts)
- Organs
- In-vitro gene editing technology (i.e., 'designer babies')
- One's labour
- Votes
- The right to hunt an endangered animal/ the right to hunt at all
- Buying 'carbon credits' in order to be permitted to pollute
